The image shows a close-up, low-angle view of a building's facade. The main structure is a tall, yellow tower with a blue dome. The tower has several arched windows and a decorative band with yellow and blue patterns. The dome is also blue and has a similar decorative band. The building is set against a clear blue sky. In the background, other buildings are visible, including a red one and a grey one. The text "THE ROYAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES AND ARTS OF BARCELONA" is overlaid in large, bold, black letters across the middle of the image.

THE ROYAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES AND ARTS OF BARCELONA

Welcome to the Royal Academy of Sciences and Arts of Barcelona (RACAB)

This institution, with more than 250 years, is located in an eighteenth century building, in the city centre. In its conference room, Albert Einstein exposed the relativity basis. In the adjacent room there rest a Billeter astronomical clock dated in 1869 which indicates the time and also the exact position of some planets, the Earth, the Moon and the Sun until 2029. This is a building where the passion for architecture and the devotion to science are amazingly represented.

The wide variety of rooms can accommodate corporate events of different nature, excellence and uniqueness as premier reference: presentations, breakfast and dinners, conferences, commercials, fashion shows, recordings, weddings, press conferences, etc.
