THE ROYAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES AND ARTS OF BARCELONA
Welcome to the Royal Academy of Sciences and Arts of Barcelona (RACAB)

This institution, with more than 250 years, is located in an eighteenth century building, in the city centre. In its conference room, Albert Einstein exposed the relativity basis. In the adjacent room there rest a Billeter astronomical clock dated in 1869 which indicates the time and also the exact position of some planets, the Earth, the Moon and the Sun until 2029. This is a building where the passion for architecture and the devotion to science are amazingly represented.
